informed woman, and I wished you would follow her example." Yes, and last week you said you wished I could manare to look as stylish as Mrs. Allen,—and she makes all her own clothes. But she has what I haven't."

Mrs. Ler. "Wat is that?"

Mrs. Ler. "Wat is going on, and is bright and entertaining in conversation but I could do as well as she does if I had the same source of informations to the last number of her Magazine lately, and I learned more in one hour's reading, about various social matters and the topics of the day than I would pick up in a month by my occasional chats with friends. It certainly covers every topic of interest, from the news of the day down to the details of housekeeping; and everything is so beautifully illustrated, too. Every time Mamie goes over to the Allens' she comes back and teases me to get you to take Demorest's Family Magazine, as the stories are so good. Even the boys watch for it every month, as a place is found for them also in its pages; and Mr. Allen swears by it. It is really wonderful how it suits every member of the family?"

Mrs. Ler. "Yee that W. Jennings Demorest, the publisher, ib East 14th Street, New York, is offering to send a Specimen Copy for 10 cents, so we can't lose anything, as each number contains a "Pattern Orlier" entitling the holder to any Pattern she may choose, and in any size—which alone makes each copy worth 50 cents; and I just want a jacket patern like Mrs. Allen's. The subscription price is only $2.00 a year; and I must say I can't see how they can publish so elegant a Magazine for so little money."
